

- Here at Aziah our primary aim is to breed quality dogs with lovely temperaments. We believe that it doesn't matter how beautiful something is, if you cannot live with it, then it has no place! To that end, we breed for temperament first and foremost. Because of the many years experience that we have in breeding and exhibiting dogs, we can pretty much guarantee that your Aziah puppy will not only LOOK the part, but will act the part as well.
- Because we breed to KEEP and not to sell, we do not breed often. We do not keep a formal "waiting list". We prefer to liaise with potential puppy purchasers to ensure that they are happy with us and more importantly, that we are satisfied with the home that a purchaser can offer one of our precious babies.
- We do not operate on a "first come, best dressed" basis. We try, where possible to match individual puppies to individual home situations.
- Our companion puppies are sold on Limited Registration only. If you are not an established breeder/exhibitor, or unless otherwise agreed by us, please do not be offended if we refuse to sell you a puppy on Main Registration. Limited Registration does NOT mean that you are purchasing a lesser quality puppy. On the contrary, sometimes you may be fortunate to get a puppy that we would class as a show prospect, simply because we do not have the room, or it is the wrong gender for our requirements. Limited Registration basically means that your puppy/dog is fully registered, however you are unable to show it or to breed from it.
- We do understand that people have preferences for gender. However as we do prefer that pet puppies are desexed as soon as practicable, these gender differences are often not an issue.
- Colour preferences are not always possible to fulfill. A good dog is never a bad colour. We do understand that you may prefer a particular colour, however remember that if you turn down a puppy based on colour alone, you could well be turning down your potential best friend/family member.
- Our puppies are sold subject to accept of a written purchase and desexing agreement. If you have any objections to this, please don't be offended if we do not feel that we can offer you a puppy. The only reason for purchase and desexing agreements is to protect all parties, including the puppy and to set out our basic requirements for the care of your Aziah puppy.
- We do like to maintain contact with our puppy purchasers so if this is an issue, again, please do not be offended if we are unable to place a puppy in your home.
- Should you ever not be in a position to keep your Aziah puppy/dog for any reason, we do ask that you contact us prior to rehoming, selling or euthanasing it. We take back our own, this is also mentioned in our purchasing agreement so by signing it, you agree to notify us of any changes in your circumstances.
- We are happy to sell puppies to homes interstate, however all freight costs are borne by the purchaser. In addition ALL costs (ie puppy, freight etc), are to be paid prior to the puppy leaving our home.
